APRIL 11/12 2019

Cluj-Napoca, Romania | 3rd edition

JSHeroes is an International JavaScript Conference, the third of a series of Open-Source Community Events dedicated solely to this technology. By design, the event is well balanced and targets different levels of expertise, including people with extensive knowledge and experience. The event is exclusively technical and the speakers are going to tackle diverse topics and flavors from the JavaScript ecosystem.

Our Mission

We strongly believe that JavaScript is the future.

Therefore, our mission is to improve the skills in our local environment and to keep our community in sync with the latest advancements in the JavaScript ecosystem.

Designed By
The Community

The community model is the best environment for learning, so part of our mission is to inspire and help other communities. We'll continue to publish for the 3rd edition too all data about this conference, in full transparency. This way, whenever the next javascripters want to take over this event, they can build on our knowledge and the already created brand.

We have designed a single sponsoring package of €2000

That Includes

Two mentions by posting on the event social media pages

- one individual spotlightafter we shake hands
- one post including all sponsors, right before the event

Your organization's logo

- on the event website
- on each participant's name badge
- on the Conference room screen, during all coffee and lunch breaks
- in the event aftermovie

Your organization's roll-up* in the Conference room

* for branding and not for recruiting

3 free tickets for the Conference

JSHeroes 2018
Speaker Testimonials

To me, JSHeroes 2018 was a lot about JavaScript, but even more about the actual heroes which make this great community - the attendees with their appetite for knowledge, and the organizers who thought of every little detail to make this conference a great party of knowledge sharing playground.

Liran Tal

Comparing with the last year's edition, the most obvious change for me is how bigger the conference is. And it shows that it's really resonating with the people here and people really want to get involved. For me, is cool to see that something it's really designed to put Cluj on the international map. And it seems to be working.
